Judiciary Celebrates Artists and Writers of Law Month 2026

Creativity, civic understanding, and imagination took center stage in Judge Maria T. Cenzone's courtroom yesterday afternoon as the Judiciary of Guam honored the winners of the 2026 Law Month Coloring, Art, and Essay Contests. Through vibrant artwork and thoughtful essays, students from across the island brought to life this year's theme, "The Rule of Law and the American Dream," demonstrating how justice, opportunity, and equality are understood through the eyes of Guam's next generation.

"We're thrilled that we continue to have students who can contribute to the Law Month activities, and we've been doing this now for eighteen years," said Justice Robert J. Torres in his opening remarks. "And when we first started, we would never have imagined that it would grow into what it has grown to."

Family members, educators, court employees, and community supporters gathered to celebrate the students whose work earned top honors in this year's competition. Representatives from the Guam Bar Association and Coast360, as prize sponsors, were also present.
