runs in a huge second inning where the entire lineup got to bat twice, including a bases-clearing double by Panes on his second time to bat in the inning.

The Blues quieted the Red sticks somewhat in the third, fourth and fifth inning by using their sixth pitcher. The Reds unloaded once again in the sixth inning, which produced seven runs before the dust settled.

Everyone plays

Blues coaches John Tuquero and Joby Okada said that the goal was to get everyone to play and let everyone who wanted to pitch.

Blues player Ayden Aguon started at catcher and had a beautiful throw to catch leadoff batter Javi Concepcion stealing second before moving to pitch an inning on the mound.

Aguon was named co-MVP with Panes.

"It was a good game, more on the fun side. Each team, we all knew each other and it was all fun and games out there," said Aguon. "But those guys, they all brought their A-game. We can't do anything about it except have a fun game."

Barnes, who organized the all-star game sponsorship before the season started, has already secured sponsorship for next season's all-star game, should the Department of Education agree to have one.

"Today was all about the boys having fun playing the game. It was all about appreciating them. They all belonged on this stage and we just wanted a fun time for everyone involved," said Barnes. "Win or lose, whatever side, it was an awesome game and an awesome experience."

"On the first couple of throws, I was trying to drive my hips forward to have more power, but it didn't work for me. On my last throw, I just tried to power it through with my arms," he said. "I honestly didn't think it was far enough."

His final throw wasn't as far as he had tossed on Guam with a heavier javelin and it was also only about half of the gold-medal throw of 61 meters. But it inspired him to give the javelin more attention when he enters his junior year at John F. Kennedy High in the fall.

"I'd like to get the high school record before I graduate," he said. The record of 46 meters was set two track seasons ago by Travon Jacobs.

Valdez also finished the 1,500-meter run Tuesday, coming in ninth out of nine runners. He was scheduled to run the 800 meters Wednesday.

Other highlight performances by Team Guam members included:

- Aleah-Rae Castro, a new personal record in the women's 400 meter,

1:04.95.

- Maria Calvo, a new personal record in the women's long jump, 4.89 meters.

- Taylor-Ann Santos, new personal record in the women's long jump, 4.61 meters, and new personal record in the 100 meter, time unavailable.

- Hugh Kent, new personal record in the men's 1,500-meter run, 4:18.68.
