Volleyball

Tussle

The Geckos gave many shots to Jacobe Quinata in the middle but held big hitters Mark Morales and Irvin White to only the occasional spike. Geckos took Game 1 but the Islanders dominated Game 2, briefly allowing the Geckos back into the match after Islanders led 24-17 before a key service error ended things for the Geckos.

Islanders' momentum continued in the third set and the Geckos started unwinding, but the calm Montejo kept getting good passes and finally connected on a string of demoralizing spikes from his main guns.

By the time the Islanders realized that off-speed shots and deep tips were the only way to score points against the Geckos' powerful block, it was too late. By the fourth set, the Geckos continued to ride the lightning while the Islanders kept looking to regroup until they ran out of time.

Aaron Apiag had two straight kills late in the fourth game and the Geckos had a shot at match point but an error gave service to the Islanders. After the Islanders dug an off-speed shot, the pass got too close to the net and Dela Rosa was ready with the exclamation point.

Next

The Geckos are set to face the undefeated Tiyan High School Titans, who defeated Okkodo High School Bulldogs in straight sets 25-17, 25-18, 25-21. The Titans have yet to drop a set all season.

JFK plays Okkodo for third place at 5:30 p.m. on Thursday, followed by the GW-Tiyan title match. Both games will be played at Tiyan High.

prepared to step up to make sure our mission is continued forward with summer basketball for youth players," Guam Youth Basketball Association Founder Pacual Artero said in the release. "Although I am retiring from managing the annual league, I will help support in various ways, and look forward to seeing the youth clubs back in action!"

GBC President E.J. Calvo hopes that young players who participate in the league's games will be motivated to continue practicing their skills in the Guam National Basketball Program.

"It is our goal to connect with young players as well as coaches in our community as we focus on continued elevation of basketball in Guam for generations to come," Calvo said in the release. "GBC has been extremely active with camps and clinics for players as well as coaches, and plan to provide more opportunities for players from associate youth clubs."

Tarpley, who shot 83-79-79-241.

Jacot birdied her first, fourth and 11th holes to match her three bogeys for an even-par round Monday. She had her best round Sunday, with four birdies. She had 10 birdies over the three days.

"I just wanted to do better than the day before and keep my shots solid," she said.

Camacho

In the men's division, Camacho, coming off finishing second place during last year's championship, finished first this time.

Camacho shot 77-74-76 for a total 227, nine strokes clear of second-place finisher Eduardo Terlaje, who shot 82-76-78-236. Ivan Sablan, who shared the lead on Day 1 and was in second place after Day 2, finished 77-78-82-237 and slipped to third place.

"It feels really good, very satisfying. I had no trouble holes today, no big numbers, which was nice," Camacho said.

Camacho had three birdies on the final day, on holes 3, 7 and 10. He enjoyed his best round Sunday with four birdies.

"I think it was taking the time on every shot, staying in the moment, focusing on the shot at hand and not really thinking about the end result," Camacho said.

Top golfer Louie Sunga, who challenged Camacho up until the final hole last year, was traveling the first two days of the tournament and recorded only a Day 3 score of 75, with three birdies.

Redge Camacho lines up putt from the fringe during the third round of the Guam Amateur Golf Championships, which concluded May 30, 2022, at the Country Club of the Pacific. Camacho's three-day total of 227 was nine strokes clear of second-place finisher Eduardo Terlaje, who shot 236.

The winners of the tournament also earned spots and points on the World Amateur Golf Rankings. Camacho also automatically qualified for a spot on the Guam Nomura Cup team. Pacific Daily News reporter Jojo Santo Tomas covers sports and food. Email him at jsantotoma@guampdn.com.

a schedule of giving the mural time to cure before players take the court.

More than 300 high school basketball players make up more than 70 teams competing throughout the event, which ends in July.

The tournament shifts to Hågat June 4, followed by Asan June 12 and Talofofo June 18. The culmination of the 3X3 tournament is scheduled for July 23 in Humåtak.

The format features FIBA 3X3 rules, which is a fast-paced game up to 21 or until a time limit is reached. Besides time outs, there are no breaks. A game is played on a half court, so two games will go on si-

"We are the defending gold medalists at the Pacific Games, so this is a great format for the kids to learn," said Sablan.

Kaylie Pinaula, Kailie Celo and Alura Hernandez, students at Saint Paul Christian School, formed their team to have fun and do their best.

"I think we did pretty good," said Pinaula, who said they had a win and a tie on Saturday against a team from John F. Kennedy High. "Most of us are competitive and we all want to win."

The tournament is open to only graduated eighth graders through high school juniors.
