a decade, Guam is heading into an unprecedented season where public and private school volleyball teams will finally face off once again, and the stakes have never been higher.

Public school powerhouses

The public schools are entering the season with momentum and serious firepower. Leading the charge are Simon Sanchez High School, George Washington High School, and John F. Kennedy High School, each bringing a mix of returning standouts and rising stars.

The Sanchez Sharks, the reigning ISA champions, are expected to have an exciting season with senior outside hitter Lyrwana Murgol, ISA MVP, sophomore libero Eden Caballero, and senior middle blocker Erin Clemena.

Despite losing setter Breanna Simina to GW, the Sharks remain a team to beat.

The Geckos are stacked with experience and fresh talent. They're led by senior outside hitter Savannah Dela Rosa, middle Zariah Besabe (a transfer from Notre Dame), and returning senior Mea Manipol. The addition of setter Simina leading their offense is for sure going to be a game changer for GW.

JFK's team brings in a wave of new talent but remains competitive. Led by Mylie Navarro, Amanda Lizama, and libero Aryani Magbanua, the Islanders may be younger this season but are quickly finding their rhythm and establishing themselves as a team that can't be overlooked.

Private school trailblazers

Private schools once again come in with depth, skill, and high expectations. Leading the pack are the Academy Cougars, Harvest Eagles and St. John's Knights.

Academy, last year's IIAAG champions, return with a strong core with senior outside hitter Landen Devera, alongside outside hitter Lea Aromin and right-side Megan Camacho. With firepower across the net, Academy is looking to win another title and set the tone early in the season.

Harvest brings back senior outside hitter Niesha "A.I." Chen, junior middle blocker Prudence Palisoc, outside hitter Juliet Ambrose, and setter Manea Camacho, with solid chemistry and competitive edge making them a good team to watch out for.

St. John's will rely on senior setter Jia Peters and middle blocker Amara Del Carmen to guide their offense and defense. With experience and chemistry on their side, the Knights are anticipated to do very well this season.

With the leagues finally reunited, the excitement surrounding this season is real. Fans can expect high-level competition, renewed rivalries, and tight matchups from start to finish.

The action kicks off Tuesday, and with that, island volleyball is officially back.

In the semifinals, Milan steamrolled Duenas while Espiritu toppled Blas, setting up a clash of the top seeds in the final. Milan then unleashed a strike storm, blasting a 256 game to Espiritu's 166 and clinching his first King of the Lanes title in dominant fashion.

13-year-old Prince of the Lane

In the Prince Division, 13-year-old Nathan Caasi delivered a performance worthy of royalty.

Trailing most of the match against second seed Logan Lapan, Caasi summoned a clutch turkey in the final frames, erasing Lapan's handicap edge and snatching victory by just four pins.

Earlier in the day, Caasi led the qualifying rounds by 11 pins over Lapan, with Michael Duenas, Gevon Fernandez, Xander Borja, Houston Martin, Naiyah Taimanglo, Christof Pineda, Leody Ersando, and Rafael De Guzman rounding out the top 10.

In the semifinals, Caasi outdueled Taimanglo, 205-169, while Lapan dispatched Duenas, 173-130.

The final was a thriller but Caasi's late-game heroics sealed his first-ever Prince of the Lanes title, marking a milestone in his rising bowling journey.

The excitement returns at 1:15 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 28, at Central Lanes Bowling Center.
