purple, because of the low and atypical ceiling, it also thrilled them with the two teams trading points nearly the entire match before GW pulled ahead at 23—all to close the set at 25-23.

Harvest trailed behind by five points for much of the second set but was able to close the gap with setter Manea Camacho standing out as she visibly pushed herself to hustle more than anyone on the court for every single second touch to set up her hitters and bringing the game closer for the Eagles only to lose the set with another final score of 25-23.

GUAM SPORTS NETWORK
Azariah Chargualaf makes a swing at the ball.

The Eagles fought for their win in the third set although communication seemed to momentarily be at a halt. The duo that rose out of Eagles Cassidy and Camacho dominated their attacks, silencing both GW's defense and the Gecko crowd in a 25-18 win.

With momentum on their side and Eagles fans sparring with GW's in loud, competitive chants, Harvest looked ready to push the match to a fifth set as their point difference outdid the mere two from GW's previous set wins on them.

Unfortunately for the Eagles, the Geckos shut down their opponent's hopes at maximizing the set number for the game. Despite some friendly collisions on the court, GW pushed themselves to the win with juniors Azariah Chargualaf and Zariah Besabe at the forefront of this final set's

"groove" as described by Chargualaf.

The two were tough for the Eagles when they stepped into their strongest points of rotation. For Chargualaf, it was her intense serves that the Eagles consistently struggled to control, while Besabe was a block that Harvest's hitters were hardly able to penetrate.

The Eagles briefly surged ahead midway through the fourth, but GW crawled back, matching Harvest point for point before sealing the night with yet another 25-23 victory.

Players of the Game Chargualaf and Besabe said the third-set loss only motivated the team.

"Honestly, when we lost that set we just knew that we had to come together as a team," Chargualaf said. "We knew that for the fourth set we had to bring up the energy [and] start off strong."

"We were very confident [and] knew we had it in the bag," Besabe said, agreeing with Chargualaf as she shared her overwhelming belief in her team. "We knew that we could beat them with the chemistry that we have."

Chargualaf also looked ahead to what will come with Tuesday's rivalry against the equally unbeaten Academy Cougars.

"Academy has a lot of hard hitters so we are going to work on picking up those deep corners and just trying to uplift our team," she said.

The undefeated Geckos will face their main competitors, the Cougars, on their home court on Tuesday, Sept. 16, with junior varsity set to begin at 5:30 p.m.

Meanwhile, the Eagles will regroup as they prepare to travel down south to face the Southern Dolphins on the same night.
