"With the introduction of this new direct connection, we are making it easier for our Guam-based passengers to reach Cebu, one of the Philippines' most vibrant cities and a gateway to Visayas and Mindanao," Israel Fontanilla, Goodwind Travel and Tour operations manager at Philippine Airlines and Goodwind Travel and Tour, said in a statement.

Fontanilla said this new service also strengthens travel and cultural ties between Guam and the Philippines while providing more choices for both leisure and business travelers.

The Cebu flights complement PAL's existing

Guam-Manila-Guam services, giving passengers greater flexibility to connect to other domestic and international destinations via both Manila and Cebu hubs.
