THE SCORE

week went on.

"Monti shined as our #1 player, carrying a heavy load in both singles and doubles," coach Smith said.

The coach highlighted Gibson's pivotal role on the team.

"Competing all the way through the tournament really tested both my physical and mental endurance," Gibson said, portraying how each match challenged and helped her grow.

Her focus and grit was an example for the team, setting a standard for performance and resilience as she started strong and finished strong.

Guam rebounded to a strong finish in their final placement tie on Friday against Bahrain, with Mercado leading the way.

She set the tone with her first-ever Billie Jean King Cup singles victory, 6-2, 3-6, 6-2, showing consistency, focus, and determination throughout long rallies and giving Guam an early lead.

"It feels incredible to finish with a win...each match taught me something new, but it also reminds me there's still a lot to learn and improve on," Mercado said, reflecting on her milestone.

Gibson followed up with a commanding 6-1, 6-4 singles win, stepping into the court more aggressively against an opponent who relied on steady, spinning balls.

She trusted her instincts, disrupted the rhythm, and dictated points when opportunities arose, demonstrating clear growth and confidence by the end of the match.

Doubles excitement

Oh and San Agustin closed out the tie in doubles with a 7-6(5), 6-4 win.

Their match highlighted teamwork and composure under pressure, even as the opposing team took an unusually long restroom break at 5-6 in the second set, within the rules, but enough to disrupt momentum.

The Guam duo quickly regrouped and finished strong.

"We managed to close it out anyway," Oh said.

San Agustin said the experience gave her a good sense of "how things are at this level."

Earlier in the week against Laos, the pair also competed in doubles, with San Agustin marking her first international doubles match.

They pushed the match to a decisive third-set tiebreak but narrowly fell 1-6, 6-4, 6-10, showing early signs of composure and growth.

Facing opponents who relied on patient, consistent rallies, the Guam team responded with focus, rhythm adjustment, and support for one another on court.

Each player contributed to the team's success coach Smith praised the team's commitment and progress across the event.

"The overall performance was something to be proud of," he said.

With the women's campaign now complete, attention turns to the Guam National Men's Team, who will compete in the Davis Cup in Manama, Bahrain. Following in the footsteps of the women's squad, the men will look to continue Guam's momentum on the international stage.
