them in check.

In the 20th minute, JFK's Tariq Butler launched a deep pass into the box, sparking a scramble in front of the goal.

The pressure from Cruz forced a defensive misstep, and the ball deflected off an FD defender into the net for an own goal, giving JFK a 1-0 lead.

FD pushed back hard, with goalkeeper Steffen Surban making crucial saves, and the Friars coming close through several set-piece opportunities.

However, Cole Sablan extended JFK's lead with a well-taken goal in the first half, making it 2-0.

Despite FD's pressure, JFK's goalkeeper, Renzel Reburiano, kept FD at bay, preserving the 2-0 lead heading into halftime.

Second half

FD came out of halftime with a mission and found their rhythm early.

In the 43rd minute, Trystan Santos was fouled in the box, earning FD a penalty kick.

Santos stepped up to take the shot, confidently scoring to make it 2-1.

The momentum shifted as FD pushed for an equalizer but JFK's defense, anchored by Cole Sablan, Haruki Okamoto and Logan Wood held them firm.

As FD tried to advance, Landen Cruz, with the support of his teammates, stepped in to apply pressure, forcing them all the way back near their own goal.

With less than 10 minutes remaining, Kohen Diego fought hard in the mid-field to keep possession and stop FD's advances.

FD pushed forward and appeared to score, but a flag was raised, nullifying the goal.

Despite some final attempts from FD, JFK's defense stood strong and the game ended with the Islanders securing a 2-1 victory.

Despite the win, Cruz and Reburiano both pointed to areas for improvement.

"We played well as a team, but there's a lot to work on, and we'll touch up on that in training tomorrow," Cruz said.

Reburiano said the team "did okay."

"We could've scored more, but we got comfortable, and that led to mistakes," he added.

In terms of preparation for this long awaited match, Reburiano said "bonding, getting enough sleep, eating right, and training," and "a few hours before getting rest."

"We bond as a team, always together at school," he added. "That connection on and off the field is very important."

Cruz is looking ahead for the rest of the season.

"We need to lock in and fix both defense and offense," he said.

For Reburiano, it's about staying sharper and focused, and minimizing mistakes.

retain his title, with Flores finishing 7th overall.

No stranger to international competition, Flores made the National Finals at the Ultimate Ninja Athlete Association World Championships in Dallas, Texas this past July.

He was also selected to compete in the American Ninja Warrior Season 18 Competition with episodes scheduled to air spring of 2026.

Trained by Guam's own ninja warrior, Deren Perez, owner of Guam's first Ninja athlete gym, Guma I Sindalu Siha ninja gym, Flores attributes a lot of his success to the guidance and training from Perez.

"American Ninja Warrior and world championships would still be a dream if Deren didn't bring Ninja to Guam and guide me through the journey. I give my deepest thanks to him as my coach, my friend, and my island brother," Flores said.

Flores competed as a representative of the Guam Modern Pentathlon Federation, a new organization under the Guam National Olympic Committee.

equestrian horseback riding in the modern pentathlon and will be fully integrated into the sport during the 2028 Olympics in Los Angeles.

The Guam Ninja Association, which falls under the Guam Modern Pentathlon Federation, has been integral in developing ninja and obstacle course racing world-class athletes.

"Our mission is to give our athletes the platform they deserve—to showcase their abilities and remind the world that Guam's talent runs deep and we are so proud of Rai," Guam

Modern Pentathlon Federation president Katrina Perez said.

Andrew Collings, president of Oceania Modern Pentathlon Confederation and World Pentathlon executive board member, said it was amazing to have Guam as the newest member of Oceania represented at the world championship.

"Rai competed incredibly well across all events and was a great ambassador for both Guam and Oceania. A highlight for me was to present him with a bronze medal for the U17 3000-meter. I look forward to seeing Rai compete in future events," Collings said.

Flores reflects on his journey.

"Seeing who I've become, you wouldn't guess how much I sucked when I started about three years ago. However, if you see the effort we trained with in Deren's backyard, you would realize how much more we can achieve," he said.

He said having the new Guma I Sindalu Siha ninja gym can boost learning faster than ever before, and he hopes more kids, teenagers and adults see this opportunity and "give it a shot like I did."

"You never know where these paths can take you until you start," Flores added.

spirit of harmony, mutual respect, and shared dedication to the art.

The celebration on Guam echoed the message delivered by International Judo Federation president Marius L. Vizer, who emphasized the broader significance of World Judo Day.

"Judo teaches us to fall and rise again, to face challenges with courage and to respect our opponents. By embracing its values, we all become ambassadors of peace and harmony, within society and with nature itself," Vizer said.

The Fudoshin Judo Club said it embraces this vision wholeheartedly, reinforcing their commitment to using judo as a path to building bridges in the community, from the youngest white belts to the most experienced black belts.

Judokans of all ages

One of the most inspiring aspects of the Oct. 28 event was the wide age range of participants, with the youngest judoka being just 4 years old, and the oldest over 60.

The remarkable diversity reflected judo's broad appeal and inclusiveness as a discipline that welcomes individuals of all ages and walks of life, the club said.

At the heart of the event was a shared mission to instill in every participant, especially the youth, the understanding that judo is more than just a sport.

Fudoshin Judo Club encouraged each judoka to reflect on their individual role in building a more peaceful and respectful world.

The club emphasized that peace begins with small actions, a bow on the mat, a hand extended to help an opponent, or a message of encouragement.

These gestures, rooted in the judo philosophy, contribute to greater understanding, respect, and personal growth in daily life.

"Every bow, throw, and handshake was a step towards a more peaceful world. Our mission was to help all participants see that judo is a way of life, a tool for improving health, building character, and promoting harmony within communities," the Fudoshin Judo Club said.

'Peace Wall'

As part of the celebration, the Fudoshin Judo Club unveiled a "Peace Wall," a creative and symbolic installation where every participant was invited to sign their name and write a personal message inspired by the theme of peace, unity, and friendship.

GUAM SPORTS NETWORK
The Fudoshin Judo Club celebrates World Judo Day on Oct. 28, 2025 with a special event at their training facility in Tamuning.

This wall became a powerful visual expression of judo's values, filled with handwritten notes about kindness, sportsmanship and the power of togetherness.

"The Peace Wall captured the spirit of World Judo Day in a way that words alone could not," the club said. "It showed us that everyone, from children to seasoned black belts, has something valuable to contribute to the message of peace."

To commemorate their participation and commitment, all attendees received official diplomas.

The certificates recognized not only their involvement in World Judo Day, but also their dedication to the values of peace, unity, respect, and self-betterment through the discipline of judo, the club said.

The Fudoshin Judo Club thanks the participating clubs, athletes, families, and volunteers who made the event a success.

International stage

The Fudoshin Judo Club said it is committed to promoting traditional judo values through expert instruction, youth engagement, and community outreach.

One of its key objectives is to develop judokas who can proudly represent Guam on the international stage while living out judo's deeper philosophy in everyday life.

The dojo is located on the 2nd floor of the MVPangilinan Building at 868 North Marine Corps Drive, 96913 Tamuning, and welcomes judokas of all ages and experience levels.
