In the Male Black Belt Open Weight Division, Dealonzio "DJ" Jackson, Mt. Carmel's grappling instructor representing Alliance Training Center Academy, outmatched Anthony Cruz of Carlson Gracie in a display of strategy and power between two athletes who actually train together.

"It was a really good fight—I was able to pass his guard," Jackson said.

He followed Pessanha's remarks about noting his adoration for the young athlete in the competition, as well as his appreciation for Guam's supportive community, especially as a coach for a local school.

"[H]onestly, I was more excited about the kids from Mt. Carmel competing," Jackson said. "I love the way the island shows support because that's not normal for me, coming from Maryland...[On Guam,] it's just everyone coming together and supporting each other and it's so beautiful to see."

For Guam's own, the tournament served as both a battleground and an appreciation for home.

Francesca Ada Lizama, representing Purebred Jiu Jitsu, took gold in the Female Brown Adult Light Division and silver in the Open Weight.

As a local athlete who has to travel often just to showcase her skill, Lizama said she misses home when she stands in the energetic crowds of countries foreign to her while representing the island.

"To feel that energy from Guam—it's what makes competing here so special," Lizama said. "I'm constantly flying out for competitions, so to experience that atmosphere at home is amazing."

Kids division

Despite the high-level adults, the kids division is what always brings out the greatest emotion in the field house.

Stassi Weakley, who took gold in the Female White Kid Light Feather Division, beamed with pride after just a year in jiu-jitsu.

"Fighting is my favorite part," Weakley said, encouraging more girls to join the sport. "They could learn how to defend themselves."

The 2025 Marianas Open closes out with strong camaraderie between competitors and an appreciation for those of Guam's community who are always in constant support of the ever-rising athletes and hospitality to our international visitors.

The Marianas Open said it has not only secured itself as a worthy tournament to celebrate athletes, but also a piece of Guam's culture to represent the island's welcoming culture with nothing less than positive outlooks about what is to come in future years.

the Sharks was canceled due to circumstances beyond their control. Flinn made it clear the team was hungry to prove themselves.

"Guam High has always been like a school with the odds against us. That whole government shutdown just made us more hungry, more ready to play. All we want to do is win out," Flinn said.

With the win and the Dolphins' loss to the Geckos, Guam High clinched the #3 seed and will face the #2-ranked Father Duenas Friars in the playoffs, a rematch from earlier this season.

"Let FD know that we're not going out. We're not going out easy," Flinn added.

Running back Noah Harris echoed the team's confidence heading into the postseason.

"We're going into playoffs playing one of the top teams in the league. We started with them this season and for our first game, I think we did pretty good. It's always going to come down to our line up front, and we just got to use our speed, like always," Harris said.

With momentum on their side and a fire lit beneath them, the Panthers are poised for a fierce playoff showdown.

ing the dedication, discipline, and unity that define the jiu-jitsu community worldwide.

As the tournament continues to expand annually, it stands as a lasting symbol of Guam's capacity to cultivate excellence, host international events of scale, and promote the island's hospitality.

Driven by the unwavering enthusiasm of Guam's community and its network of academies, the Marianas Open said it continues to serve as a bridge between nations and cultures, reinforcing Guam's identity as the true "Jiu-Jitsu in Paradise" destination.

Across all divisions—masters, adults, and kids—Atos Jiu-Jitsu Guam delivered an exceptional showing, capturing first-place finishes in every major category, followed by Purebred Jiu-Jitsu and Carlson Gracie Team.

With representation from over 20 nations, the 2025 edition marked the most expansive and competitive tournament in Marianas Open history.

Another defining moment came with the debut of 10-time IBJJF World Champion Gabrieli Pessanha, who claimed gold in the Female Black Belt Open Weight Division and received the second $10,000 grand prize, further elevating the global prestige of the event.

The tournament concluded in an atmosphere of mutual respect and unity, reflecting the Marianas Open's mission to advance athletic excellence while fostering cultural exchange, sportsmanship, and community pride.

"This year's Marianas Open transcended competition—it became a celebration of culture, community, and the universal language of Jiu-Jitsu," said Steve Shimizu, president of the Marianas Open Jiu-Jitsu Federation.

Shimizu said Guam has truly become the FestPac of Brazilian jiu-jitsu, a festival of nations, talent, and respect.

"The Marianas Open stands as a global platform for excellence, discipline, and unity through sport," he added.

Looking forward, the Marianas Open continues its upward trajectory.

Projections for 2026 anticipate participation exceeding 2,000 competitors, coinciding with the launch of the Marianas Open Circuit in January 2026, beginning with Copa de Marianas.

The expanded circuit will introduce additional international stops, inviting wider global participation and cementing Guam's standing as the regional capital of Brazilian jiu-jitsu.
