to a 25-17 win.

Set two brought more resistance from the Royals, who matched Father Duenas point-for-point through much of the frame.

However, after the mid-way mark, the Friars found their way to a late surge, creating separation for Notre Dame to manage just one additional point compared to the previous set. FD closed out set two at 25-18.

Player of the Game Friar Antonio Egurrola tried to keep the tone up for his team in the third with a powerful opening kill, but the Royals responded with we're very confident coming from our championship last year. [We were able to keep] most of the same guys [and lost] very few... but we just have to keep working hard in practice, we can't slack off," Egurrola said.

Now four games into the season, FD appears to be finding its stride after a slower-than-expected start. With several schedule disruptions still affecting the league, both teams are eager to regain momentum as the season continues.

FD improves to 4-0, while ND falls to 2-2.

Notre Dame tightened its play, relying on cleaner, more controlled rallies to stay competitive.

Despite briefly trailing, the Royals rallied late and edged out the Friars in a tightly contested finish, 26-24, handing FD their only set loss of the night.

The momentum gained by Notre Dame in set three was unfortunately short-lived as FD entered the fourth set determined to avoid a deciding fifth.

With sharper passing and explosive attacks, Father Duenas quickly overwhelmed the Royals, who began to struggle with basic ball control. The Friars pulled away decisively, closing the match with a 25-16 win.

While Egurrola led the charge, the Friars' depth proved equally important.

Saul Bamba and Kobe Miyashita provided key support on both blocks and kills, contributing to a well-rounded team performance.

Still, the Friars could not diminish the standout strikes that came from the other side of the net for Notre Dame as Piper Takoda stood out offensively, delivering the big kills that would keep his team in contention.

Egurrola continues to lead the Friars in offense with his presence at the net.

"All hard work," he said about the team's preparation.

Looking ahead, he expressed confidence in the team's trajectory.
