rounds.

In the IT&E Prince of the Lanes division, the finale featured a showdown between the champions of the IIAAG Middle School Bowling League All-Island competition. Top seed Nathan Caasi opened the championship match with a turkey, immediately erasing the 23-pin handicap advantage held by second seed Aubreale Charfauros.

However, back-to-back missed spares by Caasi allowed Charfauros to regain momentum.

The 14-year-old delivered a clean and composed game, finishing just one pin behind Caasi scratch but securing the overall victory through her handicap advantage. The win marked Charfauros' first career monthly title, informally renaming the event the Princess of the Lanes.

Charfauros reached the final by edging 9th seed Naiyah Taimanglo by three pins, while Caasi advanced by defeating 7th seed Dylan Cruz in the other semi-final.

Caasi dominated the four-game youth qualifier with an outstanding 895 series, rolling games of 193, 251, 242, and 210 for a 224 average — the highest of both divisions. Charfauros finished 92 pins behind, followed by Zayne Ayongco, Austin Cajigal, Lyo Sawada, Alex Santiago, Dylan Cruz, Xavier Quinata, Taimanglo, and Amber San Nicolas.

The next IT&E King and Prince of the Lanes event will take place at 1 p.m. June 21 at the Central Lanes Bowling Center.

Guam's strong performance at last year's Oceania U18 Championships, where the team recorded a notable victory over Australia, the AVC Beach Tour presents the next step in her development by placing Guam's athletes on a broader continental stage.

"After the success we had in beach volleyball last year, it's very exciting to participate in another tournament," said Chen. "We've worked hard for opportunities like this, and I hope we continue to grow and improve from the experience."

The event also carries special personal meaning for Chen, who was born in Taiwan and will now return to compete there while representing Guam.

"It's pretty cool to be competing in my birthplace," Chen said. "I have a lot of family there, and I'm sure it'll be fun. But ultimately, I'm proud to be representing Guam, my home."

For Eugenia, the Pingtung Open will mark her first appearance as a Guam national team player, making the tournament a significant personal milestone and an important step in her development as an international beach volleyball athlete. Earlier this year, Eugenia represented Guam at the BVR Nuvali Open in the Philippines, where she and partner Landen DeVera advanced to the championship match of the U18 division. The AVC Beach Tour now provides her first opportunity to compete at the senior international level.

"This tournament is an important opportunity for our athletes to gain higher-level international experience, represent Guam with pride, and continue building the foundation for our beach volleyball program," said Coach Manny Guarin. "For Niesha and Carmen, this is more than just a tournament. They will be challenged by experienced women's players, but that is exactly the kind of opportunity that helps young athletes grow."

Guam has selected traveling teams across three divisions: Senior, Under-20, and Under-18, reflecting the continued growth and development of the island's national beach volleyball program.

The Pingtung Open is the first of several international events Guam's beach volleyball teams will compete in during 2026 as the program continues building toward future Oceania, Asian, and world-level competitions.
